Education Abroad at Texas A&M has developed an internship program for students who have participated in international study, intern, research, and volunteer programs. Selected returnee students will be called the Education Abroad Ambassadors, and will focus on marketing and outreach initiatives that encourage other Texas A&M students to participate in education abroad programs.

Education Abroad Ambassadors will serve as representatives for our office. Ambassadors will receive training on procedures and programs to combine with their own personal experiences to conduct interest sessions, take part in one-on-one conversations with prospective students, and engage in a number of events, fairs, and orientations.

Qualifications | An applicant must...

- Be a current undergraduate student at Texas A&M University and have at least two remaining semesters on-campus prior to graduation
- Have participated in at least one international study, intern, volunteer, or research program while at Texas A&M
- Be reliable and responsible
- Possess superb communication skills
- Be able to represent our office in a professional manner at all times

Responsibilities

- Act as a resource/liaison for students considering education abroad programs and for those transitioning back to Texas A&M from their international experience.
- Offer a student perspective regarding the application/approval process
- Help promote education abroad programs through class visits, presentations, events, and other activities
- Participate in pre-departure orientation and re-entry sessions
- Contribute ideas, feedback, and suggestions from the student perspective

Expectations | Education Abroad Ambassadors must...

- Commit to one year (fall & spring semester) with the program
- Engage in ambassador duties from 5-10 hours per week
- Attend ambassador training in late August and team meetings throughout the year
- Enthusiastically share personal education abroad experiences
- Understand and promote education abroad as a valuable experience that helps students to achieve academic, personal, professional, and cultural growth
- Promptly respond to email inquiries and demonstrate a willingness to schedule in-person meetings with interested parties
- Consent to having contact information listed on our website along with a picture.
- Complete and present a capstone project during the spring semester

Benefits

- Professional experience working in the fields of international education, higher education, and marketing
- Professional development workshops
- LinkedIn review after the completion of the program
- Hourly wage: $7.25/hour

For more information please contact abroadoutreach@tamu.edu.